

Electronic Monitoring Report

September 2016

Overview

Effective FY2006, the Iowa Code mandated a minimum of five years of electronic monitoring for persons under community supervision who had committed certain offenses against a minor, including sexually violent offenses. As a result of this law, the number of community corrections offenders on electronic monitoring systems (EMS) more than doubled during FY2006, from 196 to 481 offenders. Between FY2006 and FY2016 the EMS population grew by another 428 offenders, or by about 89%. At fiscal yearend 2016, 909 offenders are on some form of electronic monitoring in the community, and the majority is sex offenders.

Sex Offenders on EMS in Community Corrections

In FY2004, about 22% of offenders on EMS were sex offenders. In FY2016, 69% of offenders on EMS are sex offenders based on most serious offense or status as a release from sex offender civil commitment to Iowa Department of Corrections supervision; still others are required to register as sex offenders based on requirements in Iowa Code Chapter 692A.

In 2009 the law mandating electronic monitoring for certain offenders whose offenses involved minors was changed to permit discretion to the district departments of correctional services, to base these decisions on validated sex offender risk assessments and other factors. However, EMS populations will continue to grow due to passage of legislation in 2005 establishing special sentences for sex offenders to commence upon completion of the original sentence (per Iowa Code §903B.1 and §903B.2); special sentences are for ten years or life, depending on the level of the sex offense. The Iowa Division of Criminal and Juvenile Justice Planning (CJJP) and Iowa Department of Corrections have projected a substantial increase in the numbers of sex offenders on community supervision in the coming years due to special sentence provisions.

Beginning in FY2010 the Iowa Department of Corrections began an electronic monitoring program for prison inmates convicted of serious offenses who the Iowa Board of Parole indicated should begin preparing for reentry. The offenders are minimum custody inmates, and are required to be on GPS monitoring while working outside the secure perimeter of the institutions. As of fiscal yearend 2016, a total of nine inmates were on GPS (eight at the North Central Correctional Facility in Rockwell City, and one at the Iowa Correctional Institution for Women in Mitchellville) and are included in the counts for the remainder of this report.

Types of Electronic Monitoring Systems

Several types of EMS are currently in use:

Radio Frequency. A monitoring receiver unit in the home is attached to the offender's phone and plugged into the phone jack as well as an electrical outlet. The offender wears a waterproof transmitter on the ankle that detects and alerts for tampering (for example, if the strap is opened or cut, or if the transmitter is not against the skin). This unit monitors the offender's arrivals and departures and is useful in assessing curfew compliance.

Global Positioning Satellite (GPS). The offender wears the Radio Frequency transmitter described above. Additionally, this system reports: a) time and date of arrival and departure from home; b) the travel path and times while out of the home; c) any removal or tampering of the transmitter or monitoring unit; and d) any violations of exclusion zone criteria (designated area(s) the offender is restricted from entering, such as a victim's home). This unit will report in as soon as the offender arrives home. A cell phone can be added to provide capability for immediate reporting.

Video Display/Breath Alcohol Test/Radio Frequency. The offender wears the Radio Frequency transmitter described above. Additionally, a video display telephone in the home allows for visual verification of the offender's presence as well as confirmation of offender identity during the breath alcohol content test. This system is primarily used to assess compliance with alcohol consumption restrictions as well as curfew.

SCRAM (Secure Continuous Remote Alcohol Monitor). The offender wears a bracelet that uses transdermal technology to sample alcohol use as often as every half hour, which automatically sends that data to a modem in the offender's home. The modem transmits the data to the SCRAM service provider on a pre-determined schedule (at least once a day). This system is primarily used to assess compliance with alcohol consumption restrictions.

In addition to the growth in the numbers of offenders on EMS, there has been a shift to higher tech global positioning system (GPS) equipment. There was no GPS in use in 2004; offenders began to be placed on GPS in late 2005 and by the end of that year only about 1% of offenders on EMS were on GPS. As of fiscal yearend 2016, about 89% of offenders on EMS are on GPS.

Offenders on Electronic Monitoring: 2016

Between 2015 and 2016 the number of offenders on EMS increased slightly.

Offenders on EMS by Type of System

The following pages list offenders on EMS as of June 30, 2016 by most serious offense. Please note not all sex offenders are identifiable by their most serious offenses. For example, certain kidnapping and burglary offenses involved attempted or completed sexual assault. Also, some offenders have discharged their sex offenses but are still required to be on the Iowa Sex Offender Registry, and are currently under supervision for other types of offenses.
